Daugherty Declares Government Will Not Run Railroads But Will See They Are Operated

MILITIAMEN GUARDING VIRGINIA TOWN WHERE POSSE BURNED TWO NEGROES AFTER LATTER HAD SLAIN OFFICIALS

Hiding Place of Blacks Fired When They Will Not Surrender to Army of 500 —Seven Members Wounded

(International News Service)
ORANGE, Va., Oct. 24.—One Hundred militiamen from Charlottesville and police from several neighboring towns patrolled the streets of Orange today after 48 hours of the most intense excitement this section of Virginia has seen in years, in which four men were killed and seven others, all prominent citizens of Orange county, were wounded. The dead are: Sheriff William C. Bond; Police Sergeant J. F. Boyer; Walter Ware, a negro and another negro whose name has not been learned.
The officers were killed with a high powered rifle when they sought to arrest Ware and his accomplice who were running a still. Their bodies were left in a thicket. Within an hour after the bodies of the officers were brought into the city, a mob of 500 angry citizens, fully armed, started on the negroes' trail. The negroes were cornered in a barn a few miles from town. Leaders of the posse sent the aged father of Ware to demand his surrender.
The son informed his father that he would die first and that if his father came back again he would meet with a volley. The crowd then riddled the barn with bullets but a pair of negroes escaped uninjured.
Then the torch was applied. Both negroes perished but not before seven members of the posse had been wounded. Meanwhile Governor Davis made a record run here from Richmond in an automobile, covering the 90 miles in about three hours. After a survey of the situation he gave the order for the troops from Charlottesville to entrain.
Terror reigned today in the negro quarter of the town. All the inhabitants who remained have been ordered to keep off the streets.

U. S. DISARMAMENT DELEGATES HOLD FIRST CONFERENCE SINCE THEIR APPOINTMENT

The first meeting of the American delegation to the coming Armament Limitation Conference was held in Washington. The session lasted four hours. The photo shows the American delegation leaving the conference hall. Left to right: Elihu Root, Senator Oscar Underwood, of Alabama; Secretary of State Hughes, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Basil Miles, a secretary to the delegation.

VIGOROUS CALL FOR MEN TO MEASURE UP TO FULL DUTIES

Rev. T. J. Halford made a vigorous call last night in his sermon at the West Presbyterian church, for men to measure up to the duties of the present day and age. He took his text in Genesis 1 st. chapter and 26th verse: "And God said let us make man in our image, after our likeness". Early in his sermon, the preacher came out for the need and necessity of better school facilities; while in private conversation he declared that he was strongly in favor of the proposed issue of school bonds, and that he would vote in the election, if his residence in the state and county were long enough to permit it.

"God is calling, through all the constructive agencies of the world", said the speaker. He has made us co-workers with him; and because we are made in God's image, in a sense we may come on an equality with Him. He has made it possible for man to become even a creator, and because this is true we cannot contemplate our responsibilities, too seriously.
The speaker mentioned the creative genius of man as shown in the marvelous growth of Salt Lake City. He said that men literally made that metropolis and did it in the midst of a desert country. He said it was God's will that we make the solitary and waste places to rejoice and blossom like the rose. By comparing mankind with the lower forms of creation, such as the animals, the fishes and the birds of the air, the speaker strongly drew the attention of his hearers to the wonderful possibilities of the human race.

Need of Thorough Training
It was pointed out that the human mind would not develop of itself, but that constant care and effort were necessary if mental efficiency was to be obtained. It was in this connection that Rev. Halford spoke his hope that the coming election would be carried in favor of larger school facilities.
The need of physical, mental, moral, social and religious development, was stressed at some length. In speaking of the home and home life the speaker said "God is seeking to speak through the mothers and fathers as through no other class of people. He has made them priests and priestesses, for the purification of His race. He temendous responsibilities resting upon all members of society should steady us and inspire us to greater aims and efforts."

Engineers and War Secretary Hold Conference

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—A conference will be held late this afternoon between Secretary of War Weeks and W. B. Mayo and J. W. Worthington, engineers for Henry Ford, over the Ford proposal to buy the Muscle Shoals plant from the government. The engineers will reply to Secretary Weeks' suggestion for modification of the Ford offer made some months ago.

There is a discrepancy of about $30,000,000 between Ford's figures and those of the war department advisors as to the amount needed to complete the work at Muscle Shoals. While a great deal may be accomplished today it is not expected any final action will be taken.
Ford has notified Secretary Weeks that he will come to Washington for a special conference on the matter after the engineers have presented their side of the case. Today's conference is set for 4 o'clock. It is expected to be lengthy as the matter to be discussed is largely technical.

AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT DECLARES CHARLES IS SLAIN

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Oct. 24.—An unconfirmed report was received from Vienna today that former Emperor Charles had been assassinated. A previous report had stated that Charles was on the point of entering Budapest at the head of his monarchist troops.

PARIS, Oct. 24.—The inter allied council of ambassadors today sent a note to the Hungarian foreign minister at Budapest, demanding that Charles be expelled from Hungary forthwith. It was intimated in diplomatic circles that sub rosa steps would be taken to restrain the war like measures of the little entente until Charles can be given a period of grace to retire voluntarily. It is felt here that the danger of war in Central Europe is threatening the success of the Washington conference.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Charles' army has been surrounded, according to semi official reports received here. No details were given. Britain has sent a note to Budapest and another to Prague capital of Czechoslovakia. The note to Budapest instructs the Hungarian government to arrest Charles. The note to Prague gave assurances that Britain will give the little entente support for any action that may become necessary in Hungary.

Foreign office officials take the view that Hungary was responsible for the monarchist coup by failure to carry out the treaty of Trianon promptly. An attempt is being made to extend the monarchist movement from Hungary to Austria.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The United States will take no part in the movement to prevent Charles from regaining the throne in Hungary, it was stated officially today. "The policy of this administration of non interference with European affairs remains unchanged," it was said at the state department.

FIVE DISTRICT ATTORNEYS CALLED TO WASHINGTON TO MAP OUT ACTION TO BE TAKEN IN COURTS IF NECESSARY

Attorney General Indicates Courts May be Asked to Define the Powers of the Railway Labor Board

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Definite indications that the government intends to seek court action to prevent a nation wide railroad strike was given today when Attorney General Daugherty summoned five United States district attorneys to Washington to confer with him.
The Attorney General announced that he had summoned the district attorneys from cities where it might be necessary to seek court action in order to give them instructions.
"The government will not run the railroads, but it will see that the railroads are operated," Daugherty said today after a conference with the President. The Attorney General said it might be necessary to have the court define the powers of the railway labor board and indicated he will seek to have the court declare that since there is now power of enforcement of the decision of the labor board, defined in the transportation act, that the power of enforcement rests with the President of the United States.
The Attorney General today was still inclined toward the opinion that the power of injunction is the most powerful weapon the government could wield in averting a transportation tie up. Government officials who have kept a close watch on all developments in the strike situation were confident today there is no prospect of a serious transportation tie up, even if the railroad labor board is not successful in its negotiations Wednesday.
The announced intention of three fourths of the country's railway employees to strike was expected to be met by the government.

HATFIELD'S WIDOW ATTENDS SESSION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The United States Steel corporation and the banking house of J. P. Morgan and Company were accused today of deliberately instigating a campaign of conspiracy and murder in the West Virginia coal fields by Frank Walsh, former member of the war labor board and now counsel for the United Mine workers, before the senate committee investigating the recent civil war between the coal operators and miners in the Mingo and adjacent districts.
Mrs. Sid Hatfield and Mrs. Ed Chambers, garbed in deep mourning, sat together in the crowded committee room as Walsh dramatically charged their husbands were shot down on the courthouse steps of Welsh, West Va. by C. E. Lively, a Baldwin — Felts detective and "the" assassin of Judge Elbert Gary others of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation.

IS PERPETUAL YOUTH TO BE ACCOMPLISHED

Dr. E. S. Bailey, of Chicago, is reported to have said in a recent address, that the Radium miners, proved themselves immune from Flu, rheumatism, gout and neuritis. Dr. Bailey is regarded as one of the foremost authorities on Radium and he says that the success which the miners mentioned met with was due to the fact that their drinking water was charged with radium. The same report says:

"The rays caught in sugar of milk and made up into tablets, taken internally seem to work miracles." Dr. Bailey has dispensed thousands of radium tablets in Chicago, "and their results, especially among old people, are nothing short of marvelous. A veritable fairland of science stands revealed."

These radium tablets are claimed as a sure preventative for hardening of the arteries. And since old age is largely the result of hard and clogged arteries—the heart being worn out pumping the blood through difficult channels—anything that looks to keeping those canals of the blood soft and open, will arouse great interest.

"Acute pains disappear as if by magic, invalidism, characteristic of old age, vanishes," under the new radium treatment. The radium is said also to increase the appetite and cause the red blood corpuscles to multiply by 250,000 in two days time. Radium is also claimed as a wonderful blood purifier and blood remedy, and its medical properties are declared to be beyond the wildest dreams. It stimulates vegetable life, is also another claim for radium.

If a mere layman were to support such claims for radium, they would fall at once, but with Dr. Bailey as their sponsor the case is quite different. Besides, another great medical authority, Dr. C. E. Field, director of the Radium Institute of New York, is equally confident of the power of radium to bring youth to the aged. He says that if present experiments pan out as expected, that in 25 years—a hundred years of time may be added to the present average span of life. It is the property of radium to re-absorb the salts into the system, that at present are thought to be depositing in the arteries, and to cause what is called in medicine "arteriosclerosis." This disease is believed to be back of all high blood pressure conditions that arise. It is also claimed for radium, that it is positively not a drug, but it is referred to as a "physical agency."

Because of the known marvelous possibilities of radium, it would not be surprising if it should prove a potent factor in replacing old age with youth.

THE SPOILSMEN

Senator Davis Elkins of West Virginia rises to remark that it is high time that Democratic officeholders in this state were replaced by deserving Republicans.

As the Senator sees the situation, the country was not particularly interested in rejecting the League of Nations and repudiating the Wilson program, but was deeply interested in ousting Democratic office-holders and installing in their places loyal Republicans.

The Senator is so upset about the dilatoriness of the administration in this respect that he has written a sharp note to members of the cabinet which declares "it is neither good policy nor good politics from the Republican standpoint" to retain Democrats in office.

It is not good politics, to be sure. From the Republican standpoint, such a policy would be well nigh ruinous. But what about the public standpoint? What about the great body of taxpayers which doesn't give a good hurrah whether a Democrat or Republican holds office, so long as he delivers the goods?

The Senator may rest assured that all Democrats who can be ousted will be ousted in due time. The President is first of all a politician and duly cognizant of his party obligations. His note to the Utah office-holder who declined to resign is sufficient proof of that and should be reassuring to the West Virginian.

The thing that really is disturbing Senator Elkins is the probability that West Virginia will return a Democrat to the Senate in 1922.—Nashville Tennessean.

A NEWSPAPER'S CREED

A newspaper has a character, like an individual. Indeed, a newspaper usually reflects the aims, the ambition, purposes, etc.,—all of which go to make up its character—of those who operate it. And to keep the name of a newspaper above reproach is the chief ambition of every right thinking editor. Those who are entrusted with the operation of a newspaper property are guardians of its character, of its good name, during their incumbency. Therefore editors are weighed down with responsibility, some taking it less seriously than others.

When many thousands of people have for generations been reading their favorite newspaper they come to look upon it as something almost sacred in their lives. They might talk about it flippantly at times and say unkind things about it, but at heart they love it. A newspaper that continues to serve many thousands of people daily throughout the decades and quarters of a century on down to a century and over must have a character that commands respect. And if you were to ask the average man or woman what he or she likes most about their favorite newspaper their answers would be interesting. Certain newspapers stand for certain things, but the principal things which newspapers, according to our idea, should stand for, are: Integrity in news, integrity in advertising, a sense of fairness that will cause you to respect the other fellow's views, and to be sure never to permit the use of your newspaper to blacken the character of any man or woman. This, coupled with the sincere desire to do something for the community that is constructive, something that will bring people together instead of tear them apart makes up a splendid creed for a newspaper. These are, very frankly, among our aims for the Chronicle.

We have read many newspaper creeds in our time, but we read the other day in the Tampa Times which cannot be surpassed. Indeed, it is so like the ambitions that we have for our paper that we shall reproduce it and with the permission of that splendid Florida daily incorporate it into our creed. It is as follows and every word in it rings true:

"In our determination to make the Times a great and good newspaper, let us be animated by a spirit of charity toward the weakness and shortcomings of our fellowmen so long as their actions are more injurious to themselves than to the public welfare;

"Printing nothing that will injure or reflect upon the reputation of any man or woman without thorough and painstaking investigation of the facts remembering that it is better to miss a good story than to run the risk of damaging the name and reputation of an innocent person;

"Abhorring the gossip monger and the purveyor of neighborhood scandal;

"Handling sex crime, and revolting details of all kinds, so as to offend good taste as little as we may, in the knowledge that many of our readers are pure minded girls and women, and that an intentional appeal to the salacious is indecent journalism;

"Refusing to create sensations out of trivialities, or allow motives of any kind to inspire overplaying of the news;

"Vowing solemnly to ourselves that ours shall be an honest and truthful newspaper in which shall be printed nothing but well established facts, emphasizing constantly that guessing is unpardonable and the printing of irresponsible rumors a journalistic crime;

"In all of which meriting, as individuals, the respect of our associates and the public by fairness to our enemies, cleanness in our purpose and unswerving honesty every minute of every hour. "As the character of an individual is built by his thoughts and actions, so is the character of a newspaper built up by the printed words.

"The good name of the Times must be kept above reproach."—Augusta Chronicle.

The dreamer deals largely with imagination, and imagination has fashioned the world with all its architectural beauty, and belted the globe with a current that has made it a whispering gallery.

To imagination we owe all the progress of the ages, for imagination wrought the conception, which trained hands wrought to a finished product.

Judge Almon will leave Washington and accompany Secretary Weeks to Muscle Shoals. It's a wise decision Judge. The development of Muscle Shoals is about the most important thing there is now, from the viewpoint of Tennessee Valley people.

We have been in the habit of speaking of cities as of the female gender, but Peterson Marzoni, Birmingham writer, calls the Magic City a "He". Maybe Pete's right at that.

ATHENS NEWS

A lyceum course will be offered this fall and winter at the Music Hall, Athens College, by the Alkalest Lyceum System.

A marriage which to some was a surprise happened last week in Nashville, in which two of our most popular towagepeople were the contracting parties. Thomas Smith of the firm of Smith & Rochell, and Mrs. Mabel Noblett Long, one of our most popular and attractive young women, were united in marriage at the Hermitage hotel in Nashville. They are at home to their friends on East Pryor Street at the splendid home of the groom.

Much excitement was caused Wednesday afternoon, about 2:30 o'clock, when a Chevrolet car was burned up and much damage done to the gasoline and oil pumps in front of Cartwright's garage near the depot. The parties, Frank Kohls, Jim McCool and Miss Rebecca McGehee, of Decatur, were en route to Huntsville. Mrs. M. K. Clements entertained on Saturday afternoon the ladies of the Snow Pryor Bible class in a most delightful and hospitable way in her lovely home. The hostess was assisted by her two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Clayton. The warm welcome, beautiful surroundings, a fine program, music and most appetizing refreshments made it a complete success. After the instructive program, a social hour, conducted by Mrs. Charles Beasley, was most enjoyable. The class received a valuable gift of five volumes of commentaries from Mrs. J. J. Capt. W. S. White of Belle Mina, was a visitor to Athens Monday. He is the youngest eighty-five year old man in Alabama, and is actively engaged daily in farming, supervising and looking after his large farming interest and does not look a day older than sixty-five. FREEING THE VICTIM OF
NERVOUS HEADACHES

Monday Health Talk No. 2

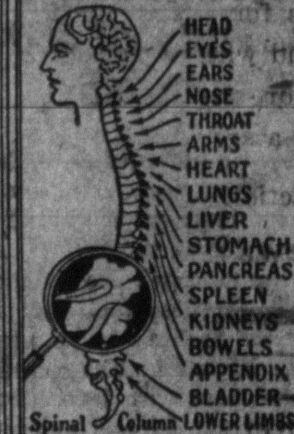

By Wooton & Wooton, Chiropractors

The victim of nervous headaches is usually the victim of a poor stomach or an inactive liver. If the liver is inactive it disorders the stomach. If the stomach is the center of weakness, the headaches will only be overcome when the weakness of the stomach is corrected.

UNCLE BEN SAYS:

"When it comes to health, Nevvy, the chiropractors generally say it with results."

HEALTH FOLLOWS
CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS
PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

The victim of nervous headaches enjoys days of relief, but as time runs on, the headaches come back more and more often. The cause is a mechanical misalignment of spinal joints which causes pressure on spinal nerves, either to the stomach or liver, and in many cases to both. The chiropractor restores the mechanical alignment, and with the pressure on the nerves released, Nature acts normally, which is to say healthfully.

Chronic Sufferer Finds Cause Removed

"I am writing this in the hope that some one may profit by my experience. Being troubled with nervous headaches which prescriptions failed to relieve, I was advised to see a chiropractor. I was better in two weeks. I have been back at work now some months, thanks to chiropractic."—A. W. Carter, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1253P.

DESPAIR LURKS IN WEAK BLOOD

Gude's Pepto-Mangan,
the Blood-Building,
Arouses Dull Faculties

Many a man and many a woman feels all out of sorts from thin, weakened blood. The least little thing goes wrong throws them into a wild form of despondency. Instead of bracing up and meeting ordinary difficulties, they are downed. Nerves are on edge. Appetite lags. Sleep is restless. They are weak and tired and dull. Poor blood works its havoc till the will loses its power. Few people who fall into habits of worry and despondency realize that most of their troubles are due to lack of endurance to blood that has become weakened by overwork or straining. Healthy men and women with rich, red blood see things brightly. They tackle life with zest and go along saffirly, full of eagerness and endurance. Gude's Pepto-Mangan taken steadily restored the blood to its natural richness. It actually makes red corpuscles, the tiny particles in blood which make it red. Druggists have Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

MANY CELEBRITIES DELIVER
ADDRESSES AT COTTON MEET

With many celebrities scheduled for addresses the approaching meeting of the American Cotton Association to be held in Birmingham, October 26 to October 29 inclusive, promises to be one of the greatest meetings in the history of the Association. Large numbers of North Alabamians are planning to attend the conference which is considered of much importance in affecting the price of the staple. It is pointed out that if the meeting is largely attended the influence will be reflected in a better price for cotton; inasmuch as the Association has advocated only a reasonable crop and is expected to outline the same program for its members next season.

What Eleanor Randle's "Poppies" Brought.

I HAVE here," said the auctioneer, "a canvas entitled 'Poppies' by Eleanor Randle. Do I hear a bid?" There was silence for a minute, and I knew that Robert Savarin was waiting to see if there would be a bid from some one in the room. A man, evidently a farmer, who had come in since the artist's entrance, spoke quickly:

"Five dollars." The auctioneer's face suggested an agonizing attack of indigestion. "Really, I cannot—the gentleman cannot have understood the value of the canvas."

"Well, what do you want for it?" the farmer growled, and I noticed that a number of people looked at him sympathetically. But my interest was intrigued by the men whom I recognized as picture dealers from New York. They were watching each other like hawks, yet trying to keep up an air of aloofness, as if they had dropped in out of curiosity, and had no concern in the picture. But their furtive glances toward the canvas and Robert Savarin betrayed their keen interest in the sale.

"Why—why," stammered the auctioneer. "Do you want ten dollars?" the man demanded. "Will you take ten dollars?" The auctioneer made a clutch at his fast-slipping dignity.

"Ten dollars is bid," he said. "For this marvelous study of poppies. Do I hear another bid?"

There was a tense little pause, and then Robert Savarin's quiet, modulated tones sounded through the room:

"One hundred dollars."

The auctioneer's apparent indignation must have affected his heart, I thought to myself, as for an instant, he appeared to wilt before my eyes. Then he rallied gamely with the air of being accustomed to bids of that sort upon the canvases of unsuccessful artists, and repeated Robert Savarin's words:

"Do I hear—"

"One hundred dollars. I am bid one hundred dollars. Do I hear—"

"And ten."

It was the cautious voice of one of the picture dealers.

A quizzical smile quirked the corner of Robert Savarin's mouth.

"One hundred and twenty-five," he said.

A new voice, dominant, strong, evidently that of a man knowing what he wanted, and accustomed to getting it, struck in:

"One hundred and fifty dollars."

It was the voice of the wealthy collector whom I had recognized.

The auctioneer caught his breath.

"One hundred and fifty dollars," he repeated. "Do I hear—"

"Two hundred," Robert Savarin put in promptly, while I marvelled. He had said that he would bid only the value of the picture, as he estimated it.

Was it possible?

"Three hundred dollars." The impatient voice of the wealthy collector held a note of finality, and there was no answering bid. The auctioneer awarded him the canvas, and in another minute the canvas was some other artist's work, and Robert Savarin was escorting Lillian out of the hall, while Eleanor Randle and I followed.

A Strange Question.

I think there were but few eyes in the room which were not focused upon the bizarrely-attired woman as she walked by my side out of the crowded place. Eyes of curiosity, eyes of envy, no doubt some eyes of genuine gladness at her good fortune. But I surmised that there were comparatively few of the last. She appeared too thoroughly self-centred, too selfish a woman to awaken much genuine concern for her welfare in the eyes of her associates.

That she was making a wonderful effort to appear composed, even nonchalant, I guessed from her erectly held body and her stride with its suspicion of a swagger. But her breathing betrayed the almost overwhelming excitement that she was consuming her. Long shuddering breaths, almost sobs, which it seemed to me must tear her lungs.

Alarmed me. As she reached the door of the anteroom I put my hand lightly beneath her elbow, hurried her through the people standing there to the car, by which Robert Savarin and Lillian were standing.

Lillian looked searchingly at her and spoke gently:

"Would you like us to drive you anywhere, Eleanor?" she asked gently. "I am afraid this has been too much for you."

Mrs. Randle laughed a bit ruefully, and gathered herself together.

"Don't you worry about me, Lil," she laughed. "I'm all right now, and I won't keep you. I must hurry back and see that auctioneer. I think I'd better instruct him not to take any bids under one hundred for my things. Don't you think so?" she appealed to Robert Savarin.

"One hundred and fifty dollars."

The races were a most enjoyable feature, and comprised the horses of the circuit.

The fire-works display each night drew large attendances, and the Ferris Wheel girls was another of the attractions of merit.

Saturday at 1 P. M., the Buick Six, was awarded Miss Annie Johnson, teacher of expression in the two schools here, was the lucky winner.

She was overjoyed at her success, and was called to the judges stand by the president of the association, Dr. W. M. Booth, and was presented to the audience, estimated at 10,000 people, who gave her an enthusiastic reception.

playes not to participate in the strike would be expected, it is said, to further discourage the brotherhood leaders when they go before the board to explain why they have ordered a walkout in violation of the wage fixing section of the transportation act.

Confidence still continued in official quarters that the labor board would be able to secure a definite postponement of the threatened strike, pending further adjustment of the wage scale, which led to the present crisis.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 24. — It will require substantial concession by the railway executives far beyond anything that they have thus far indicated a willingness to do to avert the nation-wide railroad strike scheduled to begin October 30, according to the view expressed by union leaders here this morning after a series of conferences which have lasted almost all day for three successive days.

The defection of railroad unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor has neither surprised nor worried the chiefs of the Big Four, according to all indications here. Last conferences here upon all phases of the strike question will be held today and tomorrow.

PEACE FORECAST

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Peace in the railroad strike situation was prophesied in a statement issued by the labor board today. "There is great reason to hope that the strike will be averted," the board's statement said.

The words quoted are the first official expression of opinion from the board that there was a prospect that the strike scheduled for October 30 would be settled. Without giving its reasons for so believing the board made it clear that it considered a settlement highly probable. The board announced it is anxious to get the dispute out of the way so the restoration of normal business may proceed.

"All good Americans should refrain from loose talk and provocative utterances about the controversy now pending," the statement said.
